1. Each week, 20 to 24 carloads of generators, suction pumps, and miscellaneous spare parts arrive at the Ostbahnhof in Vienna from the USSR. Immediately upon arrival, these cars are taken over by special employees of Yuzhtrans, who change the shipping tickets to indicate that the goods are Soviet military goods, thus avoiding inspection by Austrian customs authorities. The goods are then sent to a transfer point in Dobermannsdorf, whence they are routed to the central Zistersdorf warehouse at Meusiedl a/d Zaya. Egersdal (sic) and Lemnosterport (sic) are the only two points of origin in the USSR which have so far been established for these shipments.
